MARSHVILLE

Marshville, June 30.—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hogan spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brinson. The Sunday school was well attended last Sunday and officers were elected for the next quarter.

Messrs. E. F. Tutton and James Marsh went fishing last Saturday and succeeded in catching about 40 pounds of nice trout and speckled perch.

Messrs. Frank Priest, R. A. Hogan and son Roy, the cattle kings of Fort McCoy, were in this vicinity last Wednesday, looking after their cattle interests in this section.

Mr. J. N. Brinson was a business visitor at Fort McCoy last Friday.

Miss Ruby Jones of Burbank visited her parents here last Sunday.

Mr. L. B. Marsh and son Jim went to Lake Kerr last Wednesday to survey some land in that vicinity.

I am going to that big picnic and fish fry at Eureka on July 3rd. Are you? Better meet me there, so we can eat lots of good fish and meet our friends.

MCINTOSH

McIntosh, June 30.—Our town justice, Mr. Tolly Hickson, had the misfortune to break his arm just above the wrist cranking Mr. Merrell's car. We are sorry he met with this accident, but he is very comfortable under the circumstances.

Mrs. C. F. Farran will hold a public auction of her household goods and kitchen utensils Saturday afternoon, July 3rd, and expects to leave for Chicago the first of the week. We are sorry to lose the Farrans and hope they will return to Florida.

Everything is in readiness for the boat races and basket picnic tomorrow, Thursday, at Garrison hammock. All that is needed for a perfect day and a good time is not any rain.

Quite a few campers are at that favorite resort, among whom are Dr. and Mrs. Davis of Irvine and the latter's sister, Mrs. McIver of Ocala.

Mrs. W. M. and Mrs. Joseph I. Gist spent Thursday last at Micanopy, the guests of Mrs. Montgomery, Sr. and Mrs. Dorsey. They also attended the W. C. T. U. convention, both morning and afternoon, which convened there Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Rebecca Gist took them up in her Ford car.

Dr. Walkup returned Sunday from a two weeks' visit in Kentucky. As a little side trip he stopped over in Carolina for a day or two. His trip did him a great deal of good, judging from his healthy appearance.

Mr. Edwin Montgomery, the young Presbyterian minister of McIntosh, is holding a series of meetings in Micanopy this week. He is being assisted by his father.

Several carloads of watermelons were loaded here this week. They were of fine size and came off the Farran farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdy Richardson have taken a room at Miss Artie Baldwin's for a week's stay. Mr. Richardson is salesman for Heinz' 57 varieties and is having his vacation. Ten days ago he gave a demonstration of the many varieties at the Gist store which proved quite a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks of St. Augustine, are visiting Mrs. Ida Walkup and family.

Christian and Neal did not go to Leesburg this week to buy melons because they are kept busy around in this section.

Baptism of Fire Greeted
Mr. Harry Mestayer's Entrance
In Motion Picture Plays

[Harry Mestayer is one of the most prominent actors on the American stage. He has assumed leading roles in many important stage productions and comes from a line of theatrical people. He has written herewith his experiences as a leading man in the Selig Polyscope play, "The Millionaire Baby."]

By HARRY MESTAYER.
"Two years ago if anyone had approached me with a contract to appear in motion pictures I would have turned down the offer. And yet, like many other actors, I have seen the light. The change of heart was not compulsory, for I came to realize that in motion pictures of higher class the conscientious actor has as great an opportunity for artistic work as on the spoken stage. I considered at some length, too, before I affiliated permanently with any motion picture concern, and I chose the Selig Polyscope company because of the enviable reputation attained by the Selig spectacular productions and the artistic environments made possible by the careful supervision of Mr. William N. Selig."

"When I started to work in 'The Millionaire Baby' in the Chicago studios of the Selig Polyscope company I was also appearing in the lead in a dramatic production on the speaking stage at one of the leading theaters in that city. This placed me under quite a strain and all I did for several weeks was work and sleep—and very little of the latter. I was at the studio every morning at 8:30 in the afternoon. Then I rushed downtown and, after a rather hurried supper, sped to the theater in time to appear on the stage at 8:15. "It was quite an experience to be working in two characters which were themselves so different and which to enter the shack. Suddenly, however, the flames leaped up, fanned by a breeze which suddenly swooped down on us, and the other player and myself found that we were within the four walls of a blazing furnace, the door having caught fire, too.

"Our first impulse, naturally, was to make our escape in the quickest manner possible, but both of us realized that if we did it would require the rebuilding of the shack and repeating of the many efforts we had in getting the scene to the point we had reached, so we determined to make an effort to carry out our parts in the gamest manner possible. We rushed through the flames to the door and then with my fellow player I staggered through the door and out in front of the camera, where we both fell exhausted. When I saw the picture I easily understood why the director told us we had done very well, for the way we both sank to the ground was realistic in every detail.

"This scene also called for a rain effect and the water pouring down upon us added to our discomfort. This is merely one incident of the dangers to which a picture player is exposed. I would not have gone through that much in ten years on the stage, but the fact that I now can have my own home and keep regular hours every day more than makes up for all.

"I presume most of my readers know that 'The Millionaire Baby' was adapted to the screen from the story by Anna Katherine Green, and I am sure that those who have read the works of this noted writer will agree with me when I say that her plots are more baffling than those created by any other writer of the present day. There were scenes in the production where the slightest show of any kind of emotion would have disclosed the denouement and ruined the entire effect of the picture, so you can imagine how I felt at first playing close up to the camera and having to hold every muscle of my face tense when I had been used to being far away from the audience, with the footlights between us, where facial expression is a secondary consideration.

"This is one of the causes for many

were presented through such widely different mediums, and this novelty relieved the monotony of such a steady grind.

"I will try to tell you some of the interesting things which occurred during the filming of the big scenes for 'The Millionaire Baby.' The first one that comes to my mind, and one which I will remember for a long, long time, was a fire scene in which I was supposed to rescue another actor, who was playing the part of my employer, from a burning building. Our director tried using smokepots, but these did not give the realistic effect which he desired, so he determined that the shack which had been erected in the large yard of the studio would have to be burned and that the two of us were to appear in the scene would have to undertake what is termed by the players 'a stunt.' In other words, we would have to run the risk of being injured for the sake of realism.

"The other player was placed in the shack and the fire started. The 'business' of my part called for my rushing into the building and carrying the other man out through the smoke and flames and 'off' the scene. Oil was sprinkled on various parts of the shack, but not around the whole through which we were to exit while I was doing the 'rescue.' All appeared to be going nicely as I made my way past the camera and started failures of stage stars when they appear before the camera. They fail to realize that everything they do is recorded by the camera and that a slip which might go unnoticed on the stage will ruin a whole scene in a film drama and possibly spoil the entire production if it is not retaken. One of the most difficult scenes in 'The Millionaire Baby' was the one in which the child is stolen. The skill of handling this so as not to 'kill' the whole story depended more upon the men who retouched the film after the director had finished with it than upon the players, and I understand that these men worked till the wee small hours several nights in succession.

"Had the players who supported me in this production been other than they were I do not doubt but what my lot would have been anything but an enjoyable one, but as it was we were just like one big family from the very moment we began work. It was this perfect team work in the many trying scenes that gave the film the finished effect which I am sure will prove a delight to audiences wherever it is shown. I have nothing but praise for all the players and the director and, above all, for William N. Selig, the man who is behind the many splendid productions presented by his company, and whose orders to his directors are: 'Make a picture regardless of cost and make one that they will remember.'"
